

August 9, 2010

This Week in san francisco

DELVE

Monterey Bay Aquarium Research Institute Open House

What: Curious kids can view the research vessels, make their own ROVs, and watch deep sea scientists at work.

Why: Fathom the deep.

When: Sat., noon-5 p.m.

Where: 7700 Sandholdt Rd., Moss Landing (831-775-1700). Admission is free.  MAP IT

FOLD

MakeArt Children's Workshop

What: Kids rip, crumple, and curl to create colorful 3-D paper sculptures at the American Craft Council Show's free (with show admission) workshop.

Why: Unleash their art.

When: Sat., 1-3 p.m.

Where: Festival Pavilion demo area, Fort Mason Center, Marina Blvd., at Buchanan St. Show admission is $12 per adult or child.  MAP IT

WATCH

37th Annual Nihonmachi Street Fair

What: A free celebration of the city's Asian and Pacific American communities, with a children's village, taiko drums, and to-die-for teriyaki burgers.

Why: The whole fam can eat, drink, and be merry.

When: Sat. & Sun., 11 a.m.-6 p.m.

Where: Post St., b/t Laguna & Fillmore Sts. (415-771-9861).  MAP IT

Photo: Courtesy of Baby Vituoso