

Mobile Health News Weekly – Week of September 28, 2014

By Kevin Benedict

September 30, 2014

The Mobile Health News Weekly is an online newsletter made up of the most interesting news and articles related to mobile health that I run across each week. I am specifically targeting information that reflects market data and trends.

Care4Today™ Mobile Health Manager, a platform designed to support and motivate people to stay on schedule with their medications, launched a Patient Dashboard for health care providers and pharmacies to provide timely monitoring of self-reported medication adherence for their patients.
