

Budding Penguin Love Offers New Hope for Species

By David DeFranza

February 14, 2012

The outlook for African penguins in the wild may not be positive but—in at least one breeding program—a budding love is offering hope for the species.