

Tall Ships drop anchor at Jack London Square

February 9, 2012

The tall ships Hawaiian Chieftain and Lady Washington will be hosting daily tours and educational programs for the next two weeks at Oakland's Jack London Square. Everything you ever wanted to know about a sailor's life in the time when wind power was king is on display there.

