

Easy Stocking Stuffers: Biscoff Cookie Holiday Favor Boxes #Giveaway!

December 7, 2012 by Diane · 43 Comments

I absolutely love finding creative ways to fill my family's Christmas stockings. Everyone in the house gets a stocking at Christmas, including the pets! Okay, the fish don't get their own stocking but there are treats for the bird and chewies for the dogs along with all the treats I put in the people's stockings. I don't like to buy just any old thing I come across, though! I want it to be unique, high quality and a good fit for the recipient. Sometimes I do a favorite magazine or a gift card to a particular store and sometimes I find a tasty treat that I think people would appreciate to throw in there, too! I was recently sent some Holiday Favor Boxes from Biscoff cookies to try out and these would make the perfect stocking stuffers for someone who appreciates an incredibly good cookie! If you are looking for easy stocking stuffers, read on to learn more about Biscoff cookies and their new favor boxes!

About Biscoff: Lotus Bakeries' Biscoff Cookies are crisp caramelized biscuits imported from Belgium. These Belgian specialty cookies are known as "Speculoos" in Europe but are renamed as "Biscoff" (BIScuits with COFFee) for the US Market.

Not only are Biscoff cookies incredibly tasty, this is a gift that gives back! With your purchase of the holiday favor boxes, Lotus Bakeries donates 10% of the proceeds to Teach for America in support of new teachers committed to serving in public schools. For more information, visit Teach For America. These favor boxes come in four beautiful designs and each box contains three extra-large Biscoff two packs (6 cookies). The set includes 4 boxes (one of each design) with a total net weight of 10 ounces for 24 cookies.

Biscoff has been using the same recipe to make their cookies since 1932. These cookies are vegan and the company uses no GMO's (Genetically Modified Organisms) in their recipe. Biscoff Cookies also contain NO nuts and are produced in a facility that contains no nuts. This is an easy stocking stuffer but if you want larger packages of Biscoff cookies, they have plenty of those on their website, too! There are a number of beautiful gift sets that would make great Christmas presents!

My Opinion: I received the 4 pack of holiday favor boxes for my review. The boxes are very festive and attractive and even better, they need no wrapping! Since I actually wrap stocking stuffers, that is a big plus for me! The cookies inside are absolutely delicious! They have a very light and crispy texture and I taste a hint of brown sugar in the flavor. (the company calls this a caramelized flavor and that really sums it up quite nicely!) If you are looking for easy stocking stuffers that are festive and TASTY I definitely think the Biscoff Holiday Favor Boxes are a good choice!

WIN These Easy Stocking Stuffers!

Biscoff would like to offer one of my readers a holiday 4 pack of these cookies. This is a Rafflecopter giveaway so use the directions in the form to enter. This giveaway ends at midnight EST on December 14, 2012.
