Maxthon is out with its iPhone browser ready to fight in the ever-competitive third-party web browser market. The new application syncs with Maxthon's desktop and Android browsers, making sure you can always access your bookmarks with ease. In addition, it also packs several other features like the Reader Mode, which removes all the ads; Quick Links Center from where you can access 60 of the most popular websites and apps; support for tabbed browsing; Smart Address Bar that will look into previous websites you've visited as well as search results and bookmarks; Speed Dial that allows you to quickly access favorite websites; and Download Manager.

While I remain loyal to Dolphin Browser, I can understand people who got used to Maxthon on their computers switching boats to have all their data accessible while on the go. Check it out and let us know how you like it...
