April 3, 2015

OUT & EQUAL WORKPLACE ADVOCATES celebrated MO-MENTUM at their annual gala dinner at Nikko Hotel. A record crowd was on hand to honor the groundbreaking TV show Transparent, about a late-in-life transition. Actor Amy Landecker accepted the award and spoke movingly about what being part of Transparent means to her. She said the Momentum Leadership Award for Transparent's impact on the LGBT community was more significant than winning a Golden Globe. We were entertained by the fabulous humorist Kate Clinton. When applauding Salesforce's decision to suspend business in Indiana after the passing of a discriminatory bill, she quipped, "I'm not going to vacation in Indiana anymore!" The Kliptones provided the perfect soundtrack to the evening, even stepping outside their jazz repertoire for the perfect ending to the gala. The Momentum celebration followed three days of their Executive Forum that convened 50 LGBT executives to discuss best practices for achieving LGBT workplace equality.
