Walmart hiring 300 for new Fresno store

October 24, 2014

Walmart is hiring 300 employees for its new Fresno location.

Walmart is hiring approximately 300 associates to work at the new location at Blackstone and Ashlan avenues in Fresno. The center is scheduled to open this winter.

The store is looking for both full-time and part-time associates and applications will be accepted Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. at a temporary hiring center at 3786 N. Blackstone Avenue.

Through Walmart's Veterans Welcome Home Commitment, the company will offer a job to qualified veterans who have been honorably discharged within the past 12 months and meet standard hiring criteria. Veterans can learn more about the hiring policy at www.walmartcareerswithamission.com.

"On behalf of District Seven, I'm pleased to welcome Walmart to the Blackstone business corridor," said Clint Olivier, Fresno city councilman, in a prepared statement. "Walmart will bring new life to a key corner of the district, bringing convenient shopping options, new jobs and additional customer foot traffic to surrounding businesses."

The majority of new associates hired will begin work in November to help prepare the store for its grand opening. For more information or to apply online interested applicants can visit www.careers.walmart.com.
