As thrilling as ghost tours are, they can often be a little ... underwhelming. But some places have taken their ghost tours to a whole new level -- with guest participation. Check out a variety of truly scary ghost tours, where ghost enthusiasts can spend the night in haunted places, experience paranormal activity with ghost-detecting devices and communicate with the dead. These are the ultimate, interactive ghost experiences!

Winchester Mystery House

San Jose, California

Legend has it this mansion was specifically built to accommodate spirits, thanks to the kooky woman who lived here. Sarah Winchester held nightly seances to commune with the dead, including her daughter and husband. The house contains secret passageways, twisting hallways, a window built into the floor and stairs that lead ... nowhere. The house offers guided daily tours, and sightings and incidents are reported frequently, even by those who previously didn't believe in ghosts! The annual "Fright Nights" give visitors the opportunity to experience a large, interactive maze throughout September and October.
