

Green Friday: Free Day Passes to State Parks

Forget being indoors and shopping on “black friday” – let’s take it outdoors

Since Thanksgiving is about spending time with friends and family, why not explore a beautiful state park instead of shopping indoors or online. So there are thousands of free vehicle day-use passes to more than 40 participating redwood state parks in California.

Those who would like to visit a park for free on “Green Friday” may begin printing their day-use pass at noon and are subject to availability.

Green Friday – Free Day-use Parking Passes

Friday, November 24, 2017

California State Parks

FREE but passes are limited – Most are sold out as of 11/21/17

Pass is valid for day-use parking admission to your selected park only. Pass valid only for one vehicle on November 24, 2017. Passes are limited in availability

- Download Your Pass (limited availability) or View Passes on Eventbrite
- Pick a Park \(View a Map\)
- Plan Your Visit

Local parks include Mount Tam, Samuel P. Taylor, Jack London State Park, Butano, Big Basin, Pfeiffer Big Sur and tons more.

Enjoy stunning scenery, exercise, fresh air, and the opportunity for connecting with family and friends. Experience California’s spectacular redwood state parks for the first time or rekindle your love for them.

