

HAWAII

M A G A Z I N E . C O M

July/August 2018

ONE LAST LOOK

Opening its doors to visitors and guests in 1968, the Byodo-In Temple in Kāneʻohe's Valley of the Temples Memorial Park turned 50 this June. Dedicated to the Japanese immigrants who came to Hawai'i during the mid-19th century, the temple is known for its serene property, flowing koi ponds and stunning view of the Koʻolau Mountains.

Photo by David Croxford

