

Design Trends

Organic beauty: Nipomo by Native Trails

by HM Staff | Jul 5, 2016

Native Trails launched Nipomo, a new NativeStone bathroom sink with multiple mounting options. Nipomo has a rectangular shape that shows off the organic beauty of concrete, though it is lighter in weight. It can be installed as an apron-front sink, undermount sink or vessel sink. It is available in Ash, Slate and Pearl finishes, and measures 17" x 13" x 4".

Native Trails' NativeStone is made from a mixture of jute fiber and cement. NativeStone weighs approximately 40% less than standard concrete, and its exclusive nanosealer renders it stain resistant. NativeStone sinks are handcrafted.

