

Heated Havens

Customized heat and hydrotherapy products give designers the flexibility to create personal bathroom sanctuaries.

BY ELIZABETH RICHARDS

The bathroom is a personal refuge for many homeowners, a place to escape the stresses of daily life while indulging in therapeutic heat and hydrotherapy options ranging from steam and sauna to a relaxing soak in a deep tub – with or without jetted massage.

Native Trails' Avalon bathtub features a curved form and deep interior. A combination of jute fiber and cement known as Native-Stone makes the tub lighter than traditional concrete. Artisans hand form, polish, finish and seal each individual tub. Both sizes are available in Ash, Pearl and Slate (shown) finishes.
