YOUR KITCHEN DESIGN GUIDE

The big ideas, pro advice, and instant upgrades you need to transform your home's hardest-working room.

By Joanna Linberg

ELEMENTS OF STYLE

Make over your kitchen without remodeling. It just takes a few strategic swaps.

STYLE GUIDE

NEW FARMHOUSE

Horizontal paneling paired with marble and stainless steel: This is clean country at its best. Would you expect anything less from the founder of homewares company Schoolhouse Electric (schoolhouseelectric.com)? Brian Faherty's home serves as a testing ground for the company's old-is-new collections (those are its Drafting Chairs as barstools and Factory Lights No. 7 above). In your place, focus on mixing rustic touches—like reclaimed wood and quality reproductions—with marble and modern hardware and fixtures.

"Wherever building code allows, use LED bulbs. We all need to be energy conscious—plus changing kitchen lightbulbs is a huge nuisance. LEDs will last 10 to 15 years."
—ANA HENTON, MASS-ARCH.COM

IDEA

TAKE HOME RESTAURANT STYLE

- Bars and restaurants are serving up inspiration for home kitchens. Put these ideas in your doggie bag.
- Open shelves The see-it-all, easy-grab feature that's proven to have real staying power in home kitchens.
- Glass backsplash Mirrors are the cafe backsplash du jour. They're impractical at home, so many designers are using sheets of glass for a similar seamless, subtly reflective surface.
- Bold tile It's color, pattern, and texture in one—and a million times more interesting than subway.
- Butcher block The ultimate prep surface (cut directly on the block, wipe down with soapy water) whether you're cooking for 3 or 300.
