

The PERFECT Gift For Your Boo, Based On Their Love Language

By: Aly Walansky
Feb. 8, 2016

No matter what love language he/she speaks, we've got you covered.

This is the season when we're all trying to find tokens to give as a gift to show the love we feel for one another. But have we thought often about how we express our love? There are five love languages that reveal how we feel about love, and how we should share it.

Here are some awesome gifts to give your honey, based on the five love languages.

LOVE LANGUAGE #3: RECEIVING GIFTS

"Buy the gift yourself — don't have your secretary or mom pick it out: A beautiful pair of boots, a pair of gloves, an experience like a surprise trip to a Bed and Breakfast with flowers and chocolate in the room. The act of opening a beautifully wrapped box is also part of the fun," says Gottsman.

Native Trails' Copper Heart-Shaped Box (Antique copper is $45, Antique brushed copper is $75)

The copper heart-shaped box is the perfect symbolic gift of love and affection. Plus, copper is also known as a great conductor of electricity, so watch the sparks fly as you give your loved one this amazing gift.

