

San Francisco Chronicle

Lucile Packard Children's Hospital at Stanford gets a $1.2 billion upgrade

By Kate Galbraith | December 11, 2017

The revamped Lucile Packard Children's Hospital at Stanford in Palo Alto has entered its first full week of operations, following the opening Saturday of its new 521,000-square-foot main building. The $1.2 billion expansion includes a new playroom and a garden with play structures for children, as well as 149 new beds (for a total of 361). The previous hospital building is now undergoing renovations.

<http://bit.ly/2kqA7K3>