Rick Haggart Joins SCM Provider iTradeNetwork

by PR Newswire April 21, 2021

iTradeNetwork, the global provider of supply chain management solutions for the food and beverage industry, announced Rick Haggart as its new chief technology officer.

Rick comes to iTradeNetwork with more than 20 years of experience in executive and entrepreneurial roles in emerging technologies. Prior to joining iTradeNetwork, Rick worked for Boeing, Accenture, PerfectPlaces.com, RedAwning and Virtana. Rick is charged with building upon iTradeNetwork's successful solutions and customer base to help dramatically improve efficiency, certainty and safety in the food supply chain.

"I'm excited to join a company applying technical solutions to the perishable foods supply chain," said Rick. "Leveraging cloud agility and big data analytics helps increase food freshness and safety, while reducing waste. Our team will continue to grow iTradeNetwork's history of innovation and incorporate new technology that leads the industry."
